WILCOX & GIBBS SEWING MACHINE.
We would call attention to the following facts in connection with this Machine, which renders it superior to any other in use:
It forms a flat elastic seam which will not rip in wear,
It is entirely noiseless;
A patented device prevents its being turned backwards;
The needle cannot be set wrong;
Can be used successfully without other instructions than accompany the Machine;
It received the Gold Medal of the American Institute in 1863. For particulars, enquire of Notice to all Persons having Demands on the Government.

PENSIONS, BOUNTY, PRIZE MONEY, PATENTS, Pay for Vouchers, Scrip, Back Pay, Lost Horse and Spoliation Claims collected by the undersigned, who will attend to all other business before the Departments at Washington City.
Soldiers becoming disabled or diseased while in the service, are entitled to a Pension. Those who served in any war previous to the 3d of March, 1855, are entitled to Bounty Land. Those who served in the Navy during the late war, and were legally attached to a vessel or squadron on duty, although not participating in the taking of prizes, are entitled to Prize Money. In many Indian Treaties provision is made for payment of Spoliation Claims out of Annuities. To collect the large number of such claims now owned in this country,—for the settlement of which no similar provision has been made by treaty—demand should be made at once therefor at the proper Department and if found just, recommendation will be made to Congress to pass an act retaining the amount thereof out of the Annuities.

REAPPEARANCE OF EDWIN BOOTH.—The crowning sensation of this season of sensations, has been the re-appearance of Edwin Booth on the stage, from which a national calamity tore him, nearly nine months ago. The eagerness of the public to welcome back its dramatic idol may be inferred from the fact that as soon as a rumor reached its ear of a return, the box office of the "Winter Garden" was literally besieged with parties desirous of securing seats, on any terms, for the occasion. And thus all the seats were sold and nearly all the entrance tickets, before the performance was advertised at all. Indeed, it was only advertised the day before it took place. A general fear was felt of the disturbances which might occur through the great crowd, which was likely to collect about the doors, before the time of opening. But Mr. Stuart, the manager of the Winter Garden, wisely prevented such disturbance, and perhaps the complete blockade of Broadway, by throwing wide the doors at a quarter before six, instead of half-past seven. Thus 4,000 people amicably and quietly passed into the theatre, distributing themselves in reserved seats, galleries, aisles, and those who could do no better in lobbies and on staircases, without the least disorder or disturbance. The theatre filled up until at the back of the house the audience seemed to be crawling on the walls like flies. A sigh of relief was almost audible when the strains of the orchestra arose, though very little attention was paid either to the overture or the opening scenes of the play. The assembly seemed all fluttering with one vast throb of excitement and expectation, until the envious scenes rolled back and displayed the Court of Denmark, throned in State, with the "melancholy Dane," seated at the King's right hand; then instantly the house broke into one long, tumultuous, mighty cry. Springing to their feet, men waved their hats, women fluttered their perfumed handkerchiefs, and nine rounds of tremendous cheers rent the air, ending in something that sounded like a roar, until the object of all this worship arose, pale and trembling with agitation, and bowed low, at which the cries and cheers arose again, shaking the very walls of the house, till it seemed to rock as with an earthquake of applause. At last, when, from sheer exhaustion of lungs on the part of the audience, the tumult subsided, and Hamlet breathed out the first line, in low, broken tones. From the first sound of his speech, a stillness like that of death fell on the multitude; and while that plaintive, resonant, well-beloved voice rang through the house, it seemed as if the audience scarcely dared to breathe. After every act, and three times at the close, the hero of the evening was summoned before the audience to pass through a storm of bravos, cheers, cries and showered bouquets, wreaths and crowns.

To call such an occasion a success would be to use an absurdly feeble term; it is perhaps the most stupendous ovation, or rather signal of recognition and approval on the part of the public, towards the high priest of the stage, recorded in the annals of the drama. Such unanimity of enthusiasm it has never been my lot in life to witness, hitherto, in any of the domains of public life.

One circumstance, which intensified the approval of the public, which made them seize the passion of admiration by the blade instead of the handle, was an act of fellest pusillanimity on the part of the Herald, in publishing about a week before the performance, a brutal and disgraceful attack upon Booth, and thus attempting to use the national calamity of the 14th of April as a means to inflame the basest feelings of the lowest class of minds. Thus that large class of cultivated people who love Mr. Booth as much for his honor and high principles as a man, as they admire him for his genius as an artist, were at once from mere quiet admirers, fired into eager partisans.

It had been rumored about the city that Bennett intended sending some of his own personal corps of blackguards to the theatre to hiss and otherwise exhibit signs of disapproval, but the rumor did not justify itself. Indeed such was the intensity of public feeling, that the absurd journal retired in terror from the contest. The man who would have attempted to insult Mr. Booth on that occasion might have found his life of less value than a sparrow's. To have hurled against such an outburst of passionate enthusiasm, had been like a man trying to stop a locomotive at fullest blast. It was gratifying to the lovers of justice to find that the only hisses which were heard on the 3d of January arose at the invitation of a gentleman in the gallery, who called for a hiss for the Herald. The call was responded to by a torrent of hisses and three rounds of ominous groans.

To those who believe in something higher than selfishness as a motive power, the occasion was one of no common moment, for it proved the deep, underlying sense of justice in the public mind, and a readiness under the most peculiar circumstances which have ever environed an actor, to honor talent, dignity, and high principle, and to show that he who shall act nobly, wisely and well, shall be stately upheld notwithstanding the contagion of undeserved misfortune.—N. Y. Cor. Bulletin.

SEMMES AND OTHERS.—The once famous "pirate Semmes," the ex-Captain of the ex-Alabama, is reported to be getting along quite comfortably, "quite as well as could be expected," in fact, at his snug quarters in the Marine Barracks. His meals are procured of a restaurant in the vicinity, (those acquainted with Washington will appreciate this refinement of cruelty on the part of Government,) and taken to him at his room, the Government, of course, footing the bill. I expect the fastidious Semmes often feels like footing, not only the fare, but the waiter who brings it, if his experience in restaurant living in this city has been similar to mine. He spends his leisure in reading some of his favorite authors, (not "Lafitte," nor the "Pirate's Own Book," as has been maliciously reported,) which he brought with him from home. Two sentries are constantly on guard outside the building, and no one is allowed to communicate with him except a gentleman supposed to be one of his counsel, who holds a pass from the Navy Department. He has employed the law firms of Hughes, Denver & Peck, of this city, and Messrs. Pendleton & Colston, of Boston, to conduct his case. The Naval Commission for his trial has not yet been organized. He is said to be very anxious to have his case disposed of as soon as possible.

Major Gee, the commandant of the rebel prison or slow torture pen, at Salisbury, North Carolina, is still under confinement in Raleigh, whither he was sent from the Old Capitol Prison, about a month ago, for trial. He is also ignorant when the Court will be convened, wants a speedy hearing, is hopeful as to the result, and only anxious that the trial may go on. Jefferson Davis appears to be in the same anxious condition, and the Government seems to be disposed to "let them severely alone." They all probably, feel, by this time, that their days of trial have begun already, and what they really desire is, that the trial will come to an end. How little interest appears to be felt by the people in the fate of these men. One impatient member of Congress asked the unanimous consent of the House, yesterday, to introduce a resolution for the speedy trial of Jefferson Davis for the crime of treason, and his prompt execution when found guilty, in order that treason may be adequately branded by the nation, traitors made infamous, and the repetition of their crime, as far as possible, be prevented; but it was objected to, and consequently was not brought to bear on his case.

Why not try what Mr. Samuel Weller was wont to call the "base his carcass," which is now again the "bulwark of our liberties," "palladium of rights," and whatever else those may term it who are familiar with the vocabulary of Borh?

It is very singular how little sensation has been caused by the President's Proclamation restoring the writ of habeas corpus, among the public generally, and even more remarkable to note its failure to evoke any special expressions of joy in the quarters where the suspension of the writ caused the most outrageous weeping and wailing and gnashing of teeth. But, then, joy is not a Copperhead characteristic, and hence the luke warmness of its manifestation, even in this most notable instance. There is only one strong point that can be urged against the suspension of the writ, which is, that it was a dangerous precedent to establish. This would be an almost unanswerable argument in England, where precedents are over estimated. But with us, precedents are of comparatively minor value, as it is our common sense custom to judge cases as they arise, each on its own merits, leaving each tub to stand on its own bottom. Besides, as long as we remember what damage has been done to our country by such precedent worshipping statesmen as James Buchanan, and his kind, our people will be quite ready to disregard precedent and "take the chances." THADDEUS STEVENS ON RECONSTRUCTION.—The following synopsis of Thaddeus Stevens' latest speech on Reconstruction, we find in the San Francisco Flag. It is fuller than the report telegraphed us.

Our fathers repudiated the whole doctrine of the legal superiority of families or races, and proclaimed the equality of men before the law. Upon that they created a revolution and built a Republic. They were prevented by slavery from perfecting the superstructure whose foundation they had thus broadly laid. For the sake of the Union they consented to wait, but never relinquished the idea of its final completion. The time to which they looked forward with anxiety has come. It is our duty to complete their work. If this Republic is not now made to stand on their great principles, it has no honest foundation, and the Father of all men will still continue to shake it to its centre. If we had not been sufficiently scourged for our national sin to teach us to do justice to all God's creatures without distinction of color, we must expect the still more heavy vengeance of an offended Father, still increasing his infliction as he increased the severity of the plagues of Egypt until the tyrant consented to do justice. And when that tyrant repented of his reluctant consent, and attempted to re-enslave the people, as our Southern tyrants are attempting to do now, he filled the Red sea with broken chariots and drowned horses, and strewed the shores with dead men's carcasses.

Mr. Chairman, I trust the Republican party will not be alarmed at what I am saying. I do not profess to speak their sentiments, nor must they be responsible for them. I speak for myself, and take the responsibility and will settle with my intelligent constituents.

This is not a "white man's Government," in the exclusive sense in which it is used. To say so is political blasphemy, for it violates the fundamental principles of our gospels of liberty. This is man's Government; the Government of all men alike; not that all men have equal power and sway within it. Accidental circumstances, natural and acquired endowment and ability, will vary their fortunes. But equal rights to all the privileges of the Government, is innate in every immortal being, no matter what the shape or color of the tabernacle which he inhabits.

If equal privileges were granted to all, I should not expect any but white men to be elected to office for long ages to come. The prejudice engendered by slavery would not soon permit merit to be preferred to color. But it would still be beneficial to the weaker races. In a country where political divisions will always exist, their power, joint with just white men, would greatly modify, if it did not entirely prevent, the injustice of majorities. Without the right of suffrage in the late slave States (I do not speak of the free States), I believe the slaves had far better been left in bondage. I see it stated that very distinguished advocates of the right of suffrage lately declared in this city that they do not expect to obtain it by Congressional legislation, but only by Administrative action, because, as one gallant gentleman said, the States had not been out of the Union. Then they will never get it. The President is far sounder than they. He sees that Administrative action has nothing to do with it. If it ever is to come, it must be by Constitutional amendments or Congressional action in the Territories, and in enabling acts.

How shameful that men of influence should mislead and miseducate the public mind! They proclaim, "This is the white man's Government," and the whole coil of Copperheads echo the same sentiment, and upstart, jealous Republicans join the cry. Is it any wonder ignorant foreigners and illiterate natives should learn this doctrine, and be led to despise and maltreat a whole race of their fellowmen?

Sir, this doctrine of a white man's Government is as atrocious as the infamous sentiment that damned the late Chief Justice of everlasting fame; and, I fear, to everlasting fire.

Japan to be Opened to Trade.

The news from Japan, received at San Francisco by the steamer Oriflamme, which arrived there from Shanghai on the 5th inst. is of great importance to the commercial world. It indicates that those populous islands are to be thrown open to trade with the rest of the world, and that the segregation of the Japanese from the other peoples of the earth is to continue no longer.

This great concession to foreign nations was not brought about without a display of force and a threat of war. A powerful class, the Daimios or nobles, urged the policy of exclusion, and did not wish to yield. The presence of the foreign fleet however, frightened the Japanese and made them willing to concede the point which was claimed. Sometime ago the allied fleet went up to Osaka, one of the chief ports of Japan, and demanded from the Mikado, or spiritual Emperor, the ratification of the treaties which had been previously made with the Tycoon. A conference was held between the foreign Ministers and the council of the Mikado, and ten days were given for a final reply. These proceedings created intense excitement in the islands. The Kanagawa Herald says:

Whilst these negotiations were going on at Osaka, Kioto was in an indescribable state. Emissaries of Daimios rushed in to counter-order the departure of the Tycoon. Ronins made horrible threats against the life of the Tycoon, and even of the Mikado himself.

The Mikado begged that the men of war should be removed at once, and declared that he would not sanction the treaties. He then ordered the removal of Abe Boungo no-kami and Matsmai Idsumi-no-kami from the Gorejio and took from them their title of Kami.

These two daimios were ordered at once to retire to their dominions, and to express their regret for the favor they had shown to the foreign cause.

The Tycoon and his government were stupefied at this unexampled audacity of Kioto, they thought that from such an act to the deposition of the Tycoon by the Mikado, the distance was small.

Osaka and Kioto were in a state of revolution. The foreign representatives were informed of all these changes, but they became more determined than ever, encouraged by the Tycoon and his ministers.

A letter, which we hope we shall be permitted to publish in a few days was to be sent to the Mikado. In this letter the Tycoon offered to retire, and begged that the Tycoonate might fall into the hands of Stots bashi, and the command of the army be entrusted to his relatives, the Daimios of Owari and Kichou. In order to prove to the Mikado and his court that he was in earnest, he ordered the eight Japanese steamers at anchor before Hiogo to move at once to Osaka, to be ready to convey him to Yeddo.

Happily, this letter was stopped, and the Tycoon was told that it was a shame for himself, and a disgrace to his ancestors, to abdicate, when he was at the head of an army numbering over 300,000 men, and to yield to a miserable faction tyrannizing over the Mikado and his council.

The excitement was great—the crisis fearful. The officers of the legations sent to Osaka, on a special mission, met only the stern and sorrowful faces of the Tycoon's followers, all more or less ready to perform the hara-kiri, should the Tycoon be compelled to retire. This painful excitement lasted three days. The representatives of the four Powers, almost hourly informed of the state of affairs, were during all this time busily engaged day and night.

The crisis was hourly approaching. The member of the Gorejio, Ogasawara Iki-no-kami, throughout the whole of the night of the 22d November, discussed with 96 deputies of the Daimios, the question of the sanction of the treaties. He succeeded in persuading them, but there were invisible enemies around the Mikado, and he himself feared for his life.

At last, all the members of the Gorejio, the great metskis and high officials of the Tycoon, with Stotsbashi at their head, called on the Mikado, and prostrated themselves at his Majesty's feet. The Mikado was moved; but messages containing threats were brought in every minute, and the Sacred Emperor was still hesitating when all the high officers declared they would die at once, should they not obtain what they had been sent for. Stotsbashi went so far as to take hold of the sleeve of the Mikado, respectfully swearing that he would not loosen his hold until his Majesty sanctioned the treaties. Finally, Kuambaku, the first officer of the Mikado, was directed to bring him the Book of the Irrevocable Wills, and the sanction was given.

Thus the negotiation at Osaka proved successful. Its result, as officially announced, is as follows:

1. The Mikado has given his formal sanction to the Treaties concluded by the Tycoon with foreign Powers.
2. Negotiations for the revision of the Tariff on a basis agreed upon, will at once be proceeded with at Yeddo.
3. The opening of the port of Hiogo and the city of Osaka is guaranteed at the time mentioned in the London Convention of 1862, or at an earlier date if circumstances should permit.

From the above it will be seen that the Tycoon is not the head of the Japanese Government. He has very extensive authority in the management of the affairs of the Empire, but is inferior in power to the Mikado, and is subject to his commands.

The Daimios are a very powerful class. All the lands of the islands belong to them. Immense multitudes of slaves are subject to their control, and they have almost unlimited power over their persons and lives. This aristocracy was adverse to the treaty, thinking, perhaps, it would interfere in someway with their special powers and privileges. But the Mikado, though he favored at first the demands of this powerful class, was finally induced to succumb, and the treaty was made.

The benefits which foreign nations will receive from this treaty will be very considerable. By means of it a new field of commerce will be opened up to the world. We of the Pacific coast are largely interested in it. Now that the barriers which separated Japan from the rest of the world are broken down, the large population which those islands contain must contribute very much to swell the commerce of the world.

MAILS FOR EASTERN OREGON.—Since the publication of our article yesterday on mail facilities for Eastern Oregon, our attention has been called to the fact that Congress has already made provision for the service proposed. A mail route from "Dalles City, Oregon, via Canyon City and Independence, to Boise City, Idaho, was established by the last Congress. We were not aware of this when our article of yesterday was written. Proposals for carrying the mails on this route are already called for by the Department. George L. Woods, Esq., of the Dalles, has been in this city for a day or two for the purpose of calling attention to the whole matter. Postal Agent Brooks starts for the Dalles to day to ascertain more facts in relation to the requirements of the service.

TILLAMOOK.—A correspondent writes us that Tillamook is rapidly filling up with a permanent population. He thinks that over one hundred votes will be cast there in June, and that the Unionists will have a considerable majority. A few of the immigrants who went in last fall are known to be soldiers from the rebel army, but most of the population eschew that kind of Democracy.

THE NATIONAL DEBT.—By the statement of the Secretary of the Treasury it appears that the aggregate amount of the national debt on the first of January was $2 [illegible] 16 81 536.

[DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

DATES TO FEBRUARY 8.

WASHINGTON, Feb 8.—In the Senate Mr. Clark introduced a bill to amend the judicial system of the United States. It provides for ten circuit judges and authorizes appeals in certain cases involving fifty dollars from the District Court or without regard to amount in cases of [illegible] where the question involved is of general importance.

Mr. D[illegible] presented the credentials of Hon John Pool, Senator elect from North Carolina. It is generally understood that Mr. Pool has always been true to the Union and the Constitution. The credentials were ordered to lie on the table.

Mr. Stewart offered a resolution instructing the judiciary committee to inquire what legislation is necessary to protect citizens of the United States in a territory, in their civil rights, which was adopted.

Mr. Lane moved that the Senators elect from Colorado be admitted to the privileges of the floor, which was adopted.

On motion of Mr. Nye, the bill for the relief of paymaster Rittenhouse, of the Pacific squadron, for amount of money stolen was taken up and passed. The House joint resolution came up and Mr. Lane addressed the Senate at length in favor of it. The House passed the important homestead bill introduced by Mr. Rice of Massachusetts, disposing of public lands to actual settlers regardless of race or color, in Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, Arkansas and Florida. It gives 80 acres to actual settlers and embraces 16,000,000 acres, mineral lands excepted.

Railroad Accident

NEW YORK, Feb 8.—A railroad accident occurred near Bloomfield, New Jersey. The train broke through a rotten bridge and the cars were shattered against the stone foundation. One Milton Holt was killed and several others injured.

Favors Negro Evidence.

RALEIGH, N. C., Feb 8.—Ex Gov Graham, U. S. Senator elect, is out in a letter favoring negro evidence.

CAIRO, Feb 8.—The steamer St. Nicholas struck a snag in Tombigbee river on the 5th and sunk. She had 500 bales of cotton on board, part of which will probably be saved. It is expected that the steamer will prove a total loss. There was no loss of life.

News from New York City.

NEW YORK, Feb 8.—Miss Bateman the actress, appeared in the Marine Court in a suit by Mr Daley, dramatic author, claiming four thousand dollars for literary services. The defense was infancy, Miss Bateman being only 20 years old, which proved a bar to the proceedings.

A woman named Luana Abraham was arrested on Monday, on Houston street, by a Government detective, who found in her muff the steel plate from which it is alleged over $14,000 of twenty five cent fractional currency had been printed.

The counsel for Pollluer, recently convicted of the murder of Senor Otero, in Brooklyn, has given notice of his intention to move for a new trial on the ground that testimony sufficient to exculpate the prisoner can be produced.

The Colored Delegation to the President.

WASHINGTON, Feb 8.—The following is the published reply of the colored delegation to President Johnson: "In consideration of a delicate sense of propriety as well as your own repeated intimation of indisposition to discuss or listen to a reply to the opinions you were pleased to express yesterday, the undersigned would respectfully take this method of replying thereto believing as we do that the views and opinions expressed in that address unsound and prejudicial to the highest interests of our race, we can not do otherwise than expose the same, and as far as may be in our power arrest their dangerous influence. The first point to which we feel especially bound to take exception is your attempt to found a policy opposed to our enfranchisement upon the alleged hostility of the former slaves towards the poor white people in the South. We admit the existence of this hostility and hold it entirely reciprocated, but you obviously commit an error by drawing your argument from a state of slavery and making it a base for the policy adopted to a state of freedom. The poor whites were the natural tools of the slave masters in oppressing the slaves and you cannot but admit that the cause of this hatred has been removed by the abolition of slavery. In the name of Heaven, we reverentially ask, how can you, in view of the professed desire to promote the welfare of the black man, deprive him of all means of defense and clothe him whom you regard his enemy in panoply of political power. On the subject of colonization that you were pleased to touch on, very much could be said, but it seems that no greater infamy could be done the colored race than the idea that the presence of negroes might be tolerated in degrading slavery, and that they must be driven into exile for no other cause than having become free.

A delegation of colored representatives from the different States are now in Washington to urge the interests of the colored people. They had an interview with the President this afternoon. The President shook hands with each member of the delegation. Fred Douglass first advanced for that purpose. G. F. Downing addressed the President, saying: We have been delegated by some who have unjustly worn iron manacles, and by those classed as ministers in the States called free.

Further European News.

NEW YORK, Feb 8.—The steamers Fulton, Hecla and Bavaria, from Europe, arrived to day but most of their news has been anticipated.

A Madrid dispatch of January 2d says, it is officially confirmed that the revolutionary General Prim entered Portugal on the 20th. He was delivering the horses and equipments of his followers to the Government. In consequence of the disturbance at Valencia, that province has been proclaimed in a state of siege. Madrid continues tranquil. The reported death of Goldstone, the sculptor, is unfounded.

It is reported that France has tendered its mediation between the Pope and Russia.

Prince Otto died at Genoa.

Melbourne advices to Dec 26th say intense excitement prevails in South Australia in consequence of the Chilean war. All sales of copper have been stopped. The rebels on the east coast of New Zealand have been defeated and have surrendered.

PORTLAND, Me., Feb 8.—The steamship Peruvian from Liverpool, the 25th and Londonderry the 26th, with one day's later news has arrived. Consols 86¾. U. S. 5 20's 66@66½.

The bullion in the Bank of England has increased £30,000.

The Paris correspondent of the London Times gives a minute account of the circumstances under which the Emperor Napoleon dispatched Mosel Bond on a special mission to Mexico. The Emperor said he wanted him to set out without delay for Mexico with a message to Maximilian that he considered that he had fulfilled his obligations and that the time had arrived when Maximilian must depend upon his own resources without the help of the French army. M. Lalliard asked for credentials but the Emperor observed that there was no necessity for any documents—all he had to do was simply to represent to Maximilian the conversation just had.

It is reported that the Spanish fleet in the Pacific will be increased.

A vessel has been detained in the Thames when on the point of sailing for Peru.

Homicide at Eugene City

EUGENE CITY, Feb 11.—Riley Deadmond, a citizen of the town, was shot last evening in a saloon and instantly killed by the saloon keeper, Steve Gardiner. An inquest was held over the body this morning. Gardiner is under arrest and will be examined to morrow. It is generally believed that the homicide was justifiable. This Deadmond was a brother of Henry Deadmond who was hanged for murder at the Dalles a year ago.

SOUTHERN OREGON.—We obtain the following from the Jacksonville Sentinel of the 10 inst:

In to day's issue will be found another call for a meeting of those interested, to take steps to build a woolen factory. We think now is the time to proceed in this matter. Our mines are being developed and the prospect is that soon many men will be congregated in our county and if a mill was in operation it would reap an abundant harvest, as well as keep a large sum of money in our midst, which would otherwise go out of the country and foreign goods be introduced in its place. Let us have a factory somewhere in the valley.

We would be glad to see these two efforts united. One factory would be very profitable and could easily be erected by our citizens. But we can scarcely expect to erect two at the same time. A double effort we fear will defeat the success of either. We hope all will unite thus forming a very strong company to build a good factory at the most eligible place regardless of personal or local considerations.

Col. Drew exhibited to us a specimen of quartz this week from the Howard and Paine lead which is very rich and gold is visible in all parts of it. This lead is not far from the celebrated mine of W. W. Fowler and Company on Applegate in the south. It was discovered about three years since and a considerable amount of quartz crushed but some difficulty arising work was for the time discontinued. The recent excitement about quartz led to further prospecting which resulted in the discovery of quartz which compares very favorably with Gold Hill and the Fowler lead. Claims have been located and a company organized for the working of it.

MONTANA ITEMS.—The Montana Post of January 13th has the following:

SHOCKING MURDER.—A letter from Hell Gate, Missoula county, dated the 2d of December states that a man named Matt Craft was murdered by Daggerty [illegible] Black. We are informed that the murderer took a double barreled shotgun from Bob [illegible], saying that he was going to kill Craft, and then proceeded to a house where the victim was sitting beside a tailor who was working at his trade. He fired through the window, the shot passing under the arm of the man who was drawing a stitch at the time, and striking Craft in the back of the head. Death was instantaneous. The sheriff has the prisoner in custody. The parties had been engaged in a scuffle during the previous part of the day in which Daggerty was rather roughly handled by Craft who pulled his beard and threw him down. Daggerty made no resistance at the time, stating afterwards that he knew that Craft carried two derringers, and that he would have been instantly shot if he had done so. In revenge for the insult he fired the fatal shot.

The revenue returns of Montana for the year 1865 show the following result:

Total assessment prior to January 1 1866, $8[illegible]; total collections to January 1 1866, $81,737 80; collected for licenses issued $47,115 40; collected for manufacturers tax, etc, $7,117 18; collected for income of 1864, $26,768 86; collected for slaughtering cattle etc, $2,580 4[illegible]; collected for freighting and expressing $4,621 47; collected from other sources, $2,[illegible] 34; total, $91,737 80. Of the $47,115 46 collected for licenses, $18,560 76, or nearly two fifths was for wholesale and retail liquor licenses, and $1,116 20 for miners licenses. The total number of cattle slaughtered was 5,722.

The project of a road from Montana to the navigable waters of the Missouri continues to be agitated. The proposed road from Virginia City across the divide via Gallatin, Bozeman and Big Horn cities to the mouth of the Yellowstone, with a branch diverging from it at a point a few miles east of Virginia City which leads to Hot Springs and Cow Creek, to Helena, and thence by White's Gulch to Kercheval City at the mouth of the Mussel shell river. The routes located under the charters of the companies consolidating with this company, are from Fort Laramie to [illegible] City, and from Kercheval City via the south fork of the Mussel shell and Twenty five yard creek to Gallatin and Virginia cities.

The United States officers have discovered in Helena 70,400 cigars, 1,742 gallons of liquors, and 1,865 pounds of tobacco, which are all liable to confiscation for non payment of duty. Uncle Sam has sharp eyes, quick ears, and a far reaching hand as becomes the tutelary genius of a great people.

Men continued to move towards the reported new discovery near the mouth of Sun river, sixty miles from Fort Benton.

PROGRESS OF THE NEW OVERLAND TELEGRAPH.—The Virginia Enterprise says: The poles are now up and the wires stretched upon them for a distance of sixty miles east of this place, that is, to a point ten miles this side of Stillwater. Beyond this point the poles are up to Westgate, but the stock of wire being exhausted the work will necessarily be delayed until a fresh supply can be got over the mountains. The company have plenty of wire in California, but the present condition of the roads considered, it is hard to say when they will be able to get it over the Sierras. Nearly all the poles for the line between this city and Austin have been delivered, and as soon as the required amount of wire can be got upon the ground the line will be put up.

MURDERER CAUGHT.—After a chase of more than two months, Sheriff Berry, of Canyon City, has succeeded in capturing the fugitive murderer McLewis. He was taken in Powder River Valley, and was brought to the Dalles on Saturday night last en route for Canyon City.

TROOPS FOR MONTANA.—The application of General Meagher for troops for Montana Territory has met with a favorable response at Washington. A strong cavalry force will be sent out to the Territory as early in the spring as the state of the roads will permit.

OREGONIANS IN CALIFORNIA. — We have a private letter from San Francisco giving an account of several Oregonians who are now travelling in California. J. W. Ladd, E. J. Northrup, E. B. Lewis, H. C. Leonard and others are spoken of as mixing their business with pleasure. Mr Lewis is working energetically for the interests of the northern mines. He has been elected an honorary member of the California Mining Bureau and appointed their Correspondent from this region. He will soon return to Oregon and will bring with him a mill for the Silver Reef ledge, the property of the Silver Reef Mining Company, incorporated in August last with fine prospects. The letter referred to speaks in praise of Butman's Mt. Hood, and the writer, who has seen Butman's Mt. Hood, says Butman's is fully equal if not better than Bierstadt's. The small fry artists of San Francisco, who envy Butman his fame and talents, in order to effect the favorable impression created on the public mind by it, played a "small potatoes" trick on the picture by producing one for the same exhibition entitled "a view of Mt. St. Helens in Oregon," which was exhibited with a great flourish as a fair representative of our mountain scenery, when in fact it was an atrocious libel, and so judged by every intelligent Oregonian who looked at it. The man who painted it, and palmed it off was named Hill, and by the course he pursued he insulted every Oregonian who saw it. Hill's imposition is the greater when it appears that he never visited Oregon in his life, and had never seen Mt. St. Helens when he painted his view of it. We are glad to know there are Oregonians in San Francisco who have the spirit to resent such insults and expose the tricks.

A ROW — ASSAULT — ARREST — THE TRIAL. — Henry Wagner, keeper of the Bella Union saloon, in the basement of Rawley's building on Stark street, has a fine appreciation of the beauties of nature, and could not withstand the temptation to take a buggy ride on Sunday. The elegance of the weather, and his own genial temperament together with the persuasiveness of a few friends combined to induce him to indulge in frequent potations of the ardent, while on his excursion, and no doubt he became pretty tight. At least his subsequent actions would justify the inference. Returning to the city, Henry fell like an injured man from some cause which does not plainly appear, and he slashed around inconsiderately — made an assault upon John C. Brown — fired two or three shots from a pistol, in the saloon, and put to flight numerous persons about the premises who have a dislike for blood, and who would doubtless wilt at witnessing a sanguinary struggle in a close room — especially if three or four, or half a dozen human beings were piled up to welter in their gore, on account of it. It so happened that the ball "play" at the Bella Union on this occasion nearly simultaneous with the firing of the Pacific's gun, on the arrival of that steamship in port, and the hour being rather early for fights those of the Police who were on duty were attracted elsewhere, and did not know what was going on at hades at the moment. Information was lodged at the Marshal's office, however, and Wagner taken into custody in a very short time after the occurrence. He appeared before Recorder Hoffman yesterday and was required to give bonds in the sum of $200 for his appearance for trial to-day.

CIRCUIT COURT. — E. D. SHATTUCK J. February 12, 1866. Court met at 10 o'clock. The following Grand Jury was impanneled: D. S. Fliver, foreman; Elijah Byers, Wm. Bybee, Hilton Bonser, E. R. Scott, Harvy Young, Edw. Casey. The following are trial jurors for the term: S. Snow, Samuel Burns, W. G. Catley, J. Dunbar, S. Force, A. Oates, H. B. Hastings, S. Helpol, H. Hanson, D. M. Barnard, G. Kelly, W. Landrath, D. M. Long, Wm. Love, Walter Moffitt, J. Orchards, John Deland, E. J. Bagby, S. J. Davenport, W. Karney, T. C. Walters, H. Weeks. Judgments were entered for plaintiffs in the following cases: Holland Gwynne vs. W. P. Anderson; R. Hraykie vs. Mrs. H. Swift, Allen W. Hall vs. John B. Hall, Harbaugh & Stitzel vs. Wm. Dr. Ay. The greater part of the day was spent in the hearing of preliminary motions and setting of cases for trial. The first case in the State, for damages for scandal, which has come to our knowledge, was brought up. Peck vs. Shaw; Mason for plaintiff, Strong for defendant. Plaintiff's attorney moved to strike out a part of defendant's answer — motion sustained.

THE NEW YORK AND IDAHO COMPANY. — In corroboration of the circumstances already stated, and the belief of Dr. Farnham, Superintendent of the New York and Idaho Mining Company, we have read with pleasure a private letter from one of the directors of the company, to Doctor F., in which the opinion is expressed that had the agents of the company gone on to South Boise, as directed to do, everything could have been arranged satisfactorily and troubles avoided. But, by the agent squandering his time, and the money of the company it made it worse, day after day. The letter is dated New York, January 4th, and was shipped here for Dr. Farnham by Wells, Fargo & Co. When the Doctor reaches New York he will be able to satisfy the company regarding their property, and he also takes with him from this city a base libel perpetrated by the agent appointed by the company, and sworn to, than that he himself carried back regarding this region of country. The company's Fiscal Secretary, upon whom all this blame rests, ... falsified perjury in this city, rather than tell the truth and be detained when here. We hope for a final adjustment of the affairs, satisfactory to the creditors and to the company.

THE SEWER ON ... — In alluding to the accident on Washington street, which befel Mr. King, we concluded that the ... as they were being placed at the extreme ... of the walk, and but about one-third as wide as the walk, were dangerous to the public, as they are entirely out of the usual ... most naturally travel. Mr. Bull ... in explanation of why this is so, attributes it to the fact that it is at ... on account of the drainage of the street. Washington street, as indeed Madison, and other contemplated improvements, have no sewers. That the water may run off, it is essential that a gutter be formed, then there must be a gradual slope to the center of the street. That the crossing may be as near on a level with the sidewalk as possible, it must be to one side, as they are being constructed. We are not a proficient engineer, and if we were, in accordance with the spirit of our citizens, we should not volunteer to give the city the benefit of any better plan for a crossing, but we presume all will be obliged to accept of what is given as in this line, even though a leg, an arm, or a neck is broken every night in the year on account of them, because, simply, they are conveniences for drainage, and the city is too poor to build sewers.

SEIZURE OF CIGARS. — The revenue officers yesterday got wind of an amount of smuggled cigars that were secreted in the second story of Rawley's building, on Stark street, and Deputy Collector Backenstos, with Assistant Assessor Grooms, went in search of the hidden property. They were met by a half clad female who gave them to understand that the cigars in question were her property, individually, they having been presented to her by one of her admirers, and she stoutly refused to give them up, or recognize the authority of the officers. Marshal Hoyt was then called in, and exercising his prerogative, the search proceeded. The cigars were found stacked up in boxes, in a trunk, in such style as to prevent their discovery by any one, except such persons as made that the object of their visit. The trunk resembled a veritable table, and indicated the place where the woman was in the habit of taking her tea, or entertaining her friends with some stronger beverage. The cigars were seized in accordance with laws of Congress, and will more than likely be confiscated.

A PLEASANT PARTY. — A few of the friends of Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Reed and Mr. P. C. Schuyler, jr., met together last evening at the rooms of the Philharmonic Society, and enjoyed a social party in respect to the above mentioned, who to-day take their departure for the East. It was an occasion of considerable pleasure in itself, but one of regret when received in the light for which it originated. The friends of Mr. Reed and his excellent lady, and Mr. Schuyler, are numerous, and they will gladly welcome them home again, after a journey of interest, and we hope of benefit, not only to themselves individually, but to the public, by the consummation of plans entrusted to Mr. Reed.

NOT WRIGHT. — Another innocent man was brought to this city yesterday forenoon in handcuffs, who had been taken into custody at Vancouver as the escaped Geo. W. Wright. P. H. ... Saunders left on the steamer Cascade in the morning, and upon arriving at Vancouver found that the man there held was not Wright, and advised the constable to let him go — but that officer concluded he had the right man, and brought him along, arriving here by the Fannie Troup. The man was released upon the Sheriff refusing to take him. It appears that the man had laid himself liable to arrest by owning that he was the escaped thief, but this was when he was in liquor, and after sobering to his senses he found himself in a bad scrape. People who are innocent ought not to attempt to "play" officers on serious questions. He returned a wiser man and the officer who had exerted himself returned disappointed.

THE HORSE THIEF CAUGHT. — Geo. W. Wright is at last caged. He was brought to the city last evening by Deputy Ryan, and the captor, Mr. Moses Bollman, who took him on Sunday morning, ten miles above the Cascades, one mile from the river on the Territory side. Wright and Bush traveled together from Portland, crossing the Columbia at mouth of the Willamette, keeping back of Vancouver and coming out at Nye's place. They fared somewhat hard for grub, and had a rough time. On the second day they parted company. "The boys" were all glad to see Wright and he will probably not leave again unless ordered to do so for want of evidence to convict. Bush will be taken in a few days, no doubt, as the officers are on sure scent.

EQUESTRIANISM. — Yesterday one of the medical practitioners of this city — Dr. J. A. Davenport — while horseback riding with a lady on Front street was thrown from his frothing steed with great fury, striking upon the pavement in the vicinity of the Mansion House, but not being dangerously injured he remounted and had the ride. The wild actions of his animal occasioned much attention and comment. The Doctor certainly ought to be eminently qualified to ride well, and no person can doubt his proficiency after the exercise of yesterday.

A WOMAN IN THE SCRAPE. — C. L. Worthington, the individual who so recently set out to "see the elephant," is still in the Metropolis. He last evening made his appearance at the Recorder's Court, thinking he has some recollection of having been robbed by a woman at the menagerie in the basement of Rawley's building, on Stark street, and wanted to have a warrant issue for her arrest. Worthington seems to have been bewildered by the sights seen about Portland, and his pleasure yet a little mixed but understands there was a woman in the scrape.

ALLEGED THIEVING. — On complaint of Henry Wager a dashing young woman by the name of Barbary Smith, who abides in Rawley's building on Stark street, and follows the profession of a pretty waiter, was yesterday accused of appropriating jewelry not rightly her own. A warrant was issued for searching the premises, but as the officers failed to find the property in her possession alleged to have been stolen further proceeding against her was quashed.

VALENTINE'S DAY. — To-morrow is St. Valentine's Day. Cupid has issued his proclamation, which appears elsewhere in this paper. The stock which Adnala is to show is really the most valuable of any that McCormick ever imported or else it is because he has this year such an elegant chance to display it, for really we never saw in Portland a window that so nearly corresponded with those of the greatest metropolis known.

PERSONAL. — Gen. A. L. Lovejoy formerly of Portland but for many years past a resident of Oregon City has again taken up his residence among us — his family having arrived by the Alert one day last week. During the season of 1865 Gen. L. built a fine dwelling at the corner of Eighth and B street, which he will hereafter make his future home.

THE REV. A. ... this city from Walla Walla ... have congregated ... are generally ... that ... dog ... will be ...

HANDSOME PRESENTS. — The steamer of Saturday brought to Mr. Lucy Harding several elegant presents from San Francisco in honor of her contemplated union with Miss Fannie Bachman. The presents consisted of elegant silverware, etc., appropriately inscribed ... many of the presents will be used on the wedding day.

THE COLLINS CASES. — Henry Groundes who has suffered fine imprisonment and the scoffs of the people in his efforts to "keep" the California Restaurant for John Collins, has now to resort to a civil proceeding for the recovery of his salary — $19 60. He applied to the papers at the Recorder's Court last evening.

CHINESE NEW YEAR. — The holiday season with the Chinese begins to-day. To-morrow their New Year opens. In Chinatown all work is suspended, and the people give themselves up to fun, here they propose enjoying the season as best the circumstances will admit.

THEATRE. — A good audience last night witnessed the performances at the Theatre. A good bill is presented for this evening. The Follies of a Night will be played, and will be well worth witnessing.

LECTURE. — The lecture this evening, before the Portland Academy and Female Seminary will be delivered by Judge Strong. Subject: Ireland and the Irish.

THANKS. — We are indebted to McCormick for quite a bundle of the newest papers and magazines. He has everything in that line that one could wish to find.

THE CASCADE. — This fine steamer of the O. S. N. Company is now making her regular daily trips, connecting with the Idaho from Dalles city.

Letter From San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 7th, 1866.

EDITOR OREGONIAN:

When I left Portland, eight weeks ago, I thought I should have written you several letters ere this time, from the California metropolis. Time, however, being proverbially swift of wing, is less a laggard here than otherwheres. One might live his three score and ten years in this exhilerating climate of the Golden State without being at all conscious of having passed his boyhood. But then the question arises as to the wisdom of thus shortening our term of conscious existence. Is it not safer, after all, to have life's lingering sweetness long drawn out, than to gulp its wine and honey in one exhaustive draught? Unless one had some cankering care he wished to forget, we should say yes.

With what a lavish hand did Nature furnish the Pacific Coast! Here are all the best varieties of everything worth having, and here is the perfection of climate. An Oregon summer and a California winter make up the sum total of a perfect year. And see how nicely the invalid may adapt the climate to his needs. He may be stimulated to the full extent of his endurance in the dry, bracing and electrical atmosphere of San Francisco, or, if his enfeebled vitality will not bear the strain, he may flee to the more humid and mild air of Oregon for safety, until soothed too deeply by its nepenthean influences, he again resorts to the vigor-giving but exhaustive climate of the dryer State. In other respects than climate, are Oregon and California reciprocally beneficial to each other. This narrow strip of country, west of the Sierra Nevada and Cascade Mountains is one in its interests, and must be one in its destiny. Every act of an Oregonian which could deprecate California is a blind blow at an inevitable and invincible destiny. Every effort of a Californian to defame or discourage Oregon, is a more blind and mad error still. We might as reasonably throw away one of our gloves, expecting to have both hands covered. What each of the two States need, is more of the other.

Let us suppose for one moment that California and Oregon were connected by a railroad. Instead of the people lying still during a considerable portion of the year, there would be hurrying to and fro — Oregonians making flying visits to San Francisco — Californians making flying visits to Oregon; business negotiations going on for the following summer, a good understanding growing up, foolish rivalries dying out, a wider intelligence spreading abroad, land increasing in value, produce finding a market, mining interests being taken up, thrift and industry increasing rapidly, while the people themselves would live two years of happiness in one, compared to their present negative plan of happiness. The picture of what Oregon might be, and what she must be in time, is refreshing to my imagination, always, and I find it hard to wait on the slow movement of events in this part of the world. If I could communicate to every Oregonian a share of my own impatience, there is no doubt whatever that it would be doing them substantial service. Why should not the pioneers of Oregon live to see the State they endured so much hardship for, vindicating their foresight and patience? Can anyone answer why?

But I commenced my letter with the intention of reporting something of affairs at Bay City, rather than to write an exordium on Oregon. When I came down, I began looking about for some marks of the great earthquake, and I came to the conclusion that the fright occasioned by that famous shake, was greater than the shake itself, no signs of a serious nature remaining anywhere. I asked all my acquaintances how they felt, what they did, what everybody did, if they were frightened, etc. In this manner I elicited various accounts, some of them highly amusing, of what was said and done on that eventful time. People who were riding or driving in various parts of the city perceived no shock. Those who were walking, were in some instances tripped; while those inside of buildings came rushing out in great consternation. I am told the earth rolled like the waves of ocean, and that the effect on the brain was bewildering, like that of seasickness, which explains, perhaps, the rambling ideas which most people retain concerning the exact occurrences of the few seconds during which the earth rolled. While nobody appears alarmed about the future of this city, everybody agrees that one such earthquake is enough for this generation.

The weather down here has been more varied than usual, this winter. It was a rare sight to see the hills back of the Bay covered with a white coat of snow for several days. Then again there came two weeks of the most delicious Indian summer-like weather, when it seemed almost a sin to engage in the business of bread and butter getting, as if Providence had given us a glimpse of Eden's climate, and we ought to act like primeval people, or what is better, like the inhabitants of Paradise Regained. After this bit of blissfulness came nearly a month of rain, and now it is coming back to Paradise again, and I begin to think of excursions to the country.

Talking of excursions to the country, reminds me of art in connection with nature. Wishing to see Butman's fine picture of Mount Hood, I visited the Art Union gallery for that purpose, where I was gratified to find a good representation of Oregon scenery, and which I enjoyed with a full share of Oregon pride. But in strolling about the gallery, I came upon a picture which put me in a great state of indignation as opposed to my former satisfaction. There was a large picture of Mount St. Helens, which is no more like that mountain than it is like the proverbial mountains in the moon. I knew at a glance that Mr. Hill, who painted it, had never been in Oregon, or any where west of the Cascade Mountains. In the first place the Mount is not at all shaped like St. Helens, and in the second, the foreground and mid distance is totally unlike anything that could be seen in connection with St. Helens, and lastly the tone of the picture is taken from the tawny California landscape, instead of from the ever green forests and verdant valleys of western Oregon or Washington. I trust Mr. Hill will put his pictures of the Cascade Mountains with their faces to the wall, and take a tour through the upper country before finishing any more. The greater seems the pity that he should have done so foolish a thing, since Mr. Hill is abundantly able to paint good pictures.

It would have amused an Oregonian to have heard the various opinions about Butman's Mount Hood. In this picture is a very beautiful foreground, taking in a section of the Columbia river where the turnings and spurs of mountains cut off the view and make it seem like a lake amid the mountains. The gradually receding hills are finely represented, and the mossy rocks and immense ferns of the moist Oregon climate makes the programme very attractive. But these same ferns fell under the suspicion of the critic's lore, who thought they might be tropical palms, from their size. The dryer soil of California does not produce ferns from eight to twelve feet high, as Oregon does, hence the doubt — all of which goes to show that faultfinding is a common accomplishment, while true criticism is a rare art. Perhaps Mr. Butman will consent to take Mount Hood and other pictures to Oregon for exhibition, as he has been urged by myself and others, who have promised him a good reception.

The new steamer Oriflamme, which is to go on the Oregon line, has just arrived here by way of China. This is a cause for congratulation, considering the sort of boats we have been compelled to risk our lives in between Portland and San Francisco. A half dozen more new ones would not come amiss. By the way, what is the reason that telegraphic communication is so rare between Oregon and California? While the Sierra Nevada laid for eight days in Baker's Bay, no news of her whereabouts reached us here, and we came to the conclusion there had been another Brother Jonathan disaster. Could not somebody have informed people waiting for her appearance of the cause of her detention? To make it still more cruel it ... letters are two weeks on the way from Portland to San Francisco overland. There is an ... eternal ... of these latter ... Oregon. Why, one almost longs ... there is such a spot on the map as Portland, when away from it, especially in winter. Therefore ... Get some means of communication that neither bad roads nor "the bar" can interrupt. Make a railroad your wiry and fight it out on that line if it takes a thousand years which it will not. "When this cruel shower is over," in Oregon I shall some day step on board the Oriflamme and refresh mine eyes once more by a sight of glorious Mount Hood. Until then, adios. I. F. A.

The editor of the Montana Radiator counted one hundred and thirty five heavy ox wagons standing at the town of Helena, which had been used during the freighting season and were laid up for the winter. These were in addition to several large trains that were on the road or elsewhere.

The Montana Radiator says: "Only think of it! Grub for $18 a week, and good grub at that." Yes, we're thinking of it and guess we'll not go there to board, notwithstanding the seductive character of the "grub."

Money Order Office, P. O. Department. This Office has been designated as a MONEY ORDER OFFICE, and is now prepared to furnish Orders from one to thirty dollars on any Money Order Office in the United States. E. G. RANDALL, P. M.

Portland, Oregon, Feb. 12, 1866.

The specific object of the Money Order system is to afford facilities for the safe transfer through the mails of small sums of money, so as to prevent as far as possible the loss of money letters, which contain generally but small sums. For this reason the maximum amount for a money order is limited by law to thirty dollars. Hence it is not intended that this system shall assume the functions and interfere with the business of Banks and of Bankers, by furnishing exchange for large sums of money. The mode by which safety is secured consists in leaving out of the order the name of the payee or party for whom the money is intended. In this respect the money order differs from an ordinary bank check.

An advice or notification containing full particulars of the order is transmitted by the issuing Postmaster to the Postmaster at the office of payment. The latter is thus furnished, before the order itself can be presented, with the necessary information to detect fraud, if any should be attempted — thus insuring the transfer of small sums of money without danger of loss.

Letter from the Rebel General Early

The New York News, the paper through whose columns the rebels still manage to reach the public, prints a letter from the rebel General Early, Sheridan's competitor "in the valley." The letter, though full of falsehood, is an object of curiosity, and we therefore publish a considerable part of it. It will be seen that Early appeals to future generations, and declares himself a perpetual exile. The country can stand the loss of this distinguished "Confederate Democrat," and could even afford to part with more of them. It is curious to observe how anxious Early is to convey the impression that the rebels were outnumbered at the rate of more than four to one. Suppose they were, had they not promised to defeat and put to ignominious flight twenty times their numbers? The fact, however, that Early's actual losses in his battles with Sheridan were far greater than the number of men he claims to have had, settles the question rather against the old rebel's veracity. Here is the letter:

HAVANA, Dec 18, 1865

To the Editors of the New York News

Having seen it stated in several papers published in the United States that I am an applicant for pardon, I desire to say, through your columns, that there is no truth whatever in this statement. I have neither made or authorized such application, and would not accept a pardon from the President of the United States if gratuitously tendered me without conditions or restrictions of any kind. I have nothing to regret in the course pursued by me during the war, except that my services were of not more avail to the cause for which I fought and my faith in the justness of that cause is not at all shaken by the result.

I have not given a parole or incurred any obligation to the authorities of the United States, and I utterly disclaim all allegiance to or dependence upon the Government of that country. I am a voluntary exile from my own country, because I am not willing to submit to the foreign yoke imposed upon it. All declarations attributed to me which are inconsistent with the above statement, are utterly without foundation, and I hope there will be no further misapprehension as to my position.

The reports of the campaigns of 1864 and 1865 by Secretary Stanton and Lieutenant General Grant, recently published, contain many erroneous statements which do great injustice to the Confederate armies. The press in the Southern States is at present perfectly muzzled by military rule, and the Confederate cause has no appropriate organ by which the ears of the world can be reached. The time will arrive, however, when a true history of the warfare can be written so as to enable foreign nations and posterity to do justice to the character of those who have sustained so unequal a struggle for all that is dear to man. In anticipation of that time, I will call attention to some facts which will show the tremendous odds the Confederate armies had to encounter.

The disparity between the forces of Sheridan and myself in the Valley campaign was even greater than that between Lee and Grant. My force, when I arrived in front of the fortifications of Washington, on the 14th of July, 1864, was eight thousand (8,000) muskets, three small battalions of artillery with about forty (40) field pieces, of which the largest were twelve-pounder Napoleons, and about two thousand badly mounted and equipped cavalry, of which a large portion had been detached to cut the railroads leading from Baltimore north. General Grant says that two divisions of the 6th corps and the advance of the 19th corps arrived at Washington before I did, and Mr. Stanton says I was met there by the 6th corps, a portion of the 19th corps under General Emory, and a part of the 8th corps under General Gillmore. My force had then marched 500 miles, marching at least twenty miles each day, except the day of the fight at Monocacy, when it marched fourteen miles and fought and defeated Wallace.

At the battle of Winchester, or Opequan as it is called by General Grant, my effective strength was about eight thousand five hundred muskets, the three battalions of artillery, and less than three thousand cavalry. Sheridan's infantry consisted of the 6th, 19th, and Crook's corps, composed of one division of the 8th corps and what was called the "Army of Virginia." Some idea may be formed of the strength of the 6th corps, when it is recollected that the Army of the Potomac was composed of three corps on the 1st of May previous, to-wit: the 2d, 5th and 6th, and that its effective strength then was, according to Mr. Stanton's statement, 120,386. The same statement shows that the available strength of the forces in the "Department of West Virginia," on the 1st of May, was 30,782, and most of the troops in this department were concentrated in the Valley. Documents subsequently captured showed the strength of the 19th corps to have been, at the battle of Winchester, not less than 12,000 effective men. Official reports captured at Cedar Creek showed that Sheridan's cavalry, on the 17th of September, two days before the fight, numbered 10,000 present for duty. His artillery was vastly superior to mine in number of men and guns. The 6th corps alone must have exceeded my entire strength, unless it had met with such tremendous losses as to reduce its strength at least three-fourths. From all the information and from documents captured at Cedar Creek, I am satisfied that Sheridan's effective infantry strength at Winchester could not have been less than 35,000 muskets, and it was probably more. The odds against me, therefore, were fully four to one, and probably more. His very great superiority in cavalry was very disadvantageous to me, as the country was very open and admirably adapted to cavalry operations, and my cavalry, being mostly armed with English rifles, without pistols or sabres, could not fight his, whose equipment and arms were complete.

At the fight at Cedar Creek I had been reinforced by one division of infantry (Kershaw's) numbering twenty-seven hundred muskets, one small battalion of artillery, and about six hundred cavalry, which about made up my losses at Winchester and Fisher's Hill. I went into this fight with eight thousand five hundred muskets, about forty pieces of artillery, and about twelve hundred cavalry, as the rest of my cavalry, which was guarding Luray Valley, did not get up in time, though ordered to move at the same time I moved to the attack. Sheridan's infantry had been recruited fully up to its strength at Winchester, and his cavalry numbered eight thousand seven hundred, as shown by the official reports captured. The main cause why the route of his army in the morning was not complete was the fact that my cavalry could not compete with his, and the latter, therefore, remained intact. He captured all his own guns that had been captured in the morning and afterwards recaptured, as so many guns captured from me, whereas I lost only twenty-three guns, and the loss of these and the wagons which were taken was mainly owing to the fact that a bridge, on a narrow part of the road between Cedar Creek and Fisher's Hill broke down, and the guns and wagons, which latter were not numerous, could not be brought off.

Pursuit was not made to Mount Jackson, as stated by both Grant and Stanton, but my troops were halted for the night at Fisher's Hill, three miles from Cedar Creek, and next day moved back to New Market, six miles from Mount Jackson, without any pursuit at all. So far from its being true, as stated by Mr. Stanton, that no force appeared in the Valley after this, the fact is that I reorganized my force at New Market, and on Nov 10, moved down the valley and confronted Sheridan on the 11th and 12th in front of his intrenchments between Newtown and Kearnstown, and then retired back to New Market because provisions and forage could not be obtained in the lower valley. The expeditions by which the posts of New Creek and Beverly were subsequently captured, were sent out also from my force in the valley. The strong force which Gen Grant says was intrenched under me at Waynesboro, when Sheridan advanced up the valley in the latter part of February, 1865, with two divisions of cavalry of 5,000 each, (10,000 in all,) consisted of about 1,000 infantry and a few pieces of artillery, most of my infantry having been returned to General Lee to meet corresponding detachments from Sheridan to Grant, and all my cavalry and most of the artillery having been sent off on account of the impossibility of foraging the horses in the valley. Obvious reasons of policy prevented any publication of these facts during the war, and will now be seen that I was leading a forlorn hope all the time, and the public can appreciate the character of the victories won by Sheridan over me.

On behalf of my down trodden country, I make the appeal to those nations that they will not commit the further injustice of receiving the history of this struggle from the mouths and pens of our enemies, but that they shall wait until the time shall come for placing a true history before them. In the meantime let all my countrymen who were in a condition to know the character of the contest, put in a tangible form to be preserved for the use of the future historian such facts and materials for that history as are in their knowledge or possession.

J A EARLY,
Lieutenant General, C S A

LITERATURE IN THE SOUTH. The Atlanta, Ga, New Era says:

The disposition to read new books in the South, is unexampled. All manner of books are purchased eagerly and read with avidity. Poetry, which a few years ago would have remained on the shelves of booksellers until cobwebs had thickened over the covers, is now bought up and read with a ready relish and works of fiction no matter how weak and stale, find some tender female to weep over the haps and mishaps of their ill conceived heroines.

We are happy to see this evident bearing of the public mind. An epoch of book making is the happiest one in the history of a nation. It shows that the minds of the people are turned away from golden idols and are seeking food for mental culture. It evinces the fact that the war and its concomitant train are no longer blasting the public mind, but that all are willing to come up and lend at the same intellectual stall, and labor together for the propagation of an era of letters in our national history. Let us have it.

District of Oregon —ss

WHEREAS, a Libel has been filed in the District Court of the United States for the District of Oregon, on the 30th day of January, A D 1866, by Meyer Mansfield, libellant, against the Steamship Oregon, her tackle, apparel and furniture, alleging in substance that on or about the 29th day of January, A D 1865, the said libellant shipped on board said Steamship at the Port of Astoria, to be delivered at the Port of San Francisco, a certain package of goods, furniture and clothing of the value of eleven hundred and seventy-two dollars, and which said package of goods, &c., was not delivered to him at the said Port of San Francisco, according to agreement, but was wholly lost to the said libellant and praying process against said Steamship and that the same, her tackle, apparel and furniture may be condemned and sold to pay said damages, with costs and expenses.

Now, therefore, in pursuance of the warrant under the seal of said Court, to me directed and delivered, I do hereby give public notice to all persons claiming said Steamship Oregon, her tackle, apparel and furniture, or in any manner interested therein, that they be and appear before the said District Court, to be held in the city of Portland, on Monday, the 5th day of March, A. D. 1866, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day, then and there to interpose their claims and make their allegations in that behalf.

W. H. BENNETT,
U S Marshal for Oregon.

Portland, Feb 8, 1866. d14t

[COMMUNICATED.]

Regulations for Lent

The following are the regulations for Lent for the present year, commencing the 14th instant:

1. All the week days of Lent, from Ash Wednesday till Easter Sunday, are fast days of precept, on one meal, with the allowance of a moderate collation in the evening and a cup of tea or coffee with a small piece of dry bread in the morning.

2. The precept of fasting implies that also of abstinence from the use of flesh meat. But, by dispensation, the use of flesh meat is allowed in this Diocese, once a day at the principal meal on all Mondays, Tuesdays and Thursdays of Lent, Holy Thursday excepted; and at every meal on all the Sundays. By the foregoing dispensation, there remain only three days of abstinence every week from Ash Wednesday till the Holy Week, of which the last four days are of strict abstinence.

3. The regular meal is not, without reasonable cause, to be taken long before noon.

5. There is no prohibition to use eggs, butter, milk and cheese. Lard may be used in preparing fish and vegetables, &c., in all Lent. This dispensation extends also to the days of abstinence throughout the year.

6. The Church excuses from the obligation of fasting, (but not of abstinence from flesh meat, except in special case of sickness or the like,) the following classes of persons, viz: the infirm, those whose duties are of an exhausting or laborious character, those under twenty-one years of age or only attaining their growth, women in pregnancy or nursing infants, and those who are enfeebled by old age.

7. It is eminently in the spirit of the Church that such persons should supply in part by good works, for what is remitted in fasting and abstinence.

8. Fervent prayer and almsdeeds, according to each one's ability ought to be inseparable companions of our fasting. These three sisters should go hand in hand, to help us in our warfare against our three mortal enemies, the flesh, the world, and the devil. According to the advice of the Angel to Tobias, xii, 8: "Prayer is good with fasting and alms, more than to lay up treasures of gold." The practice of these three eminent good works we must oppose to that triple concupiscence which reigns in the world, (1, St John, 1, 16) and by means of which Satan maintains his unhappy reign. By fasting we overcome the lust of the flesh; by almsdeeds we subdue the lust of the eyes by which we are apt to covet the mammon of the world and its empty toys; and by fervent and humble prayer we conquer the pride of life and put to flight the devil, the king of pride. Let us call on in this holy season these powerful auxiliaries to help us in our warfare. There is a very praiseworthy practice kept in many Christian houses in saying the Rosary and evening prayers in families every day in Lent. This holy exercise we would recommend to be practiced by all during Lent.

9. But all ought to remember that the very soul of the fasting is the inward spirit, which is a penitential spirit. This penitential spirit implies a deep sense of the guilt of our sins, a horror and detestation of all our past disloyalties and treasons, and a hearty sorrow for them, a sincere desire to return to God and renounce our sinful ways for the future, and, particularly, a readiness of mind to make the best satisfaction we are able to the Divine justice by penancing ourselves for our sins. Fasting in this spirit cannot fail of moving God to mercy.

10. The usual evening exercises of Lent, in the churches, consisting of the Rosary of the Blessed Virgin Mary, an instruction, and the Benediction of the Holy Sacrament, are recommended on every Wednesday and Friday during the Lent.

Given at Portland, Oregon, February 8, 1866.

† F N BLANCHET, Archbishop of O C

P. S.—The dispensation of abstinence, viz:
1. On all the Saturdays of the year which are not fasting days of obligation,
2. On the Wednesdays of Advent,
3. On the three Rogation days;
4. On certain days in Lent;

Has been renewed at Rome for ten years from June 12th, 1865, for the whole Ecclesiastical Province of Oregon City.

U. S. Marshal's Notice.

WHEREAS, a Libel has been filed in the District Court of the United States for the District of Oregon, on the 11th day of January, A. D. 1866, by Paul Corno, libellant, against the bark A. A. Eldridge, alleging in substance that said bark A. A. Eldridge is indebted to him in the sum of one hundred dollars, for pilotage, and praying process against said bark A. A. Eldridge, and that he may have decree against the said vessel for the said sum and costs and disbursements.

Now, therefore, in pursuance of the warrant under the seal of said Court, to me directed and delivered, I do hereby give public notice to all persons claiming said bark A. A. Eldridge, her tackle, apparel and furniture, or in any manner interested therein, that they be and appear before the said District Court to be held in the City of Portland on Monday, the 5th day of March, A. D. 1866, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of said day, then and there to interpose their claims, and make their allegations in that behalf.

THAT OLD GREENBACK CASE!

I am still obliged to accept of Legal Tender Notes at Par (and have been since Dec 17, 1862, for the rent of my Handsome Brick Store corner of Morrison and Front streets, I feel compelled to announce for the benefit of the public, that leased the building of me Feb. 17, 1862, for a term of years, at which time there was no such currency in vogue and it was understood the terms were Cash. Since the date above stated, I have received the depreciated currency regularly for the rent of the making less than two fifths of the real amount said Mayer was to pay. He had secured the building at very advantageous rates, and even were he now to comply with his contract, and pay in Coin, would be getting the best bargain in the city. I make this statement to show the public what kind of a man he must be to take such undue advantage of the times to convert a few dollars to himself by LEGAL SWINDLING. The public can readily see how much it costs to have such tenants in such costly buildings as the one referred to above.

THE STANDARD AMERICAN BILLIARD TABLES!

AND COMBINATION CUSHIONS.

MESSRS. PHELAN & COLLENDER

WOULD RESPECTFULLY CALL THE ATTENTION of persons wanting Billiard Tables to the great superiority of the above tables, manufactured exclusively at their establishment.

At the Billiard Congress of 1863, composed of all the first class players of America, it was unanimously resolved that tables of our manufacture should be used at all matches for the Championship, as the best and only reliable tables.

These Billiard Tables have received the unqualified approval of the best players and most competent judges, who have universally pronounced them unequaled for general excellence and durability.

Seven distinct patents for improvements in Billiard Tables have been granted to us by the United States Patent Office, and we have lately obtained a Patent from the French Government, for our improvement in Billiard Cushions.

We employ, in the construction of our tables, a variety of machines specially made for the purpose, by means of which we are enabled to insure a scientific and mechanical accuracy hitherto unknown in Billiard manufacture.

Having a long experience and thorough knowledge of all the appliances of Billiards, and constantly on hand a large stock of the best and most thoroughly seasoned materials, we are prepared to furnish everything required in the Billiard line with unprecedented dispatch.

The eminent French Billiard Player, M. Berger, has published the following opinion:

"NEW YORK, 2d August 1861.

"On the eve of leaving the United States, I am happy to declare to all amateurs of Billiards that, after a tour of eleven months through the principal cities, I have been enabled to judge in a satisfactory manner of the superiority of the Billiard Tables manufactured by Phelan & Collender. The system of manufacturing is so superior, that I am happy to introduce their style of cushion into France. They have united to their manufacture of American Billiard Tables that of the French Tables, of remarkable excellence and beauty. For these reasons, I am happy to make this declaration.

"BERGER, CLAUDIUS,
Prof. of Billiards, Paris."

Parties ordering from us will find our prices as low as good work can possibly be made for. We sell first-class articles at a fair price, and will not make an inferior article at any price.

Orders by mail carefully and promptly executed. Illustrated Catalogues and Price Lists sent by mail. The "BILLIARD CUE," a journal published in the interest of Billiards, and containing details of all novelties, a copious record of Billiard news, and everything of interest to amateurs of Billiards, sent free on application.

H. F. HUGHES,
730 Montgomery St., San Francisco, Cal., is our only authorized Agent on the Pacific coast, to whom all orders should be addressed.

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM!

The Remedy for Curing

CONSUMPTION, COUGHS, COLDS, Asthma, Croup,

Diseases of the Throat, Bronchitis, Pains and Oppression of the Chest and Lungs, Difficult Breathing and all the Diseases of the Pulmonary Organs.

ITS ACTION IS EXPECTORANT, ALTERATIVE, SUDORIFIC, SEDATIVE, DIAPHORETIC AND DIURETIC, which renders it one of the most valuable remedies known for curing diseases of the lungs. It excites expectoration, and causes the lungs to throw off the phlegm or mucus; CHANGES THE SECRETIONS AND PURIFIES THE BLOOD; heals the irritated parts; gives strength to the digestive organs; brings the liver to its proper action, and imparts strength to the whole system. Such is the immediate and satisfactory effect, that it is WARRANTED TO BREAK UP THE MOST DISTRESSING COUGH IN A FEW HOURS TIME, if not of too long standing. IT IS WARRANTED to give entire satisfaction even in the MOST CONFIRMED CASES OF CONSUMPTION! IT IS WARRANTED NOT to produce costiveness (which is the case with most remedies) or affect the head, as it contains no Opium in any form. IT IS WARRANTED TO BE PERFECTLY HARMLESS to the most delicate child, although it is an active and powerful remedy for restoring the system. THERE IS NO REAL NECESSITY FOR SO MANY DEATHS BY CONSUMPTION, when ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM will prevent it if only taken in time.

Sold by all Druggists. Price $1 per bottle.

"CONSTITUTION WATER,"

THE ONLY REMEDY FOR DISEASES OF THE

BLADDER, KIDNEYS, Gravel, Dropsical Swellings, GENITAL DEBILITY, ETC.

THE ASTONISHING SUCCESS WHICH HAS ATTENDED this invaluable medicine renders it the most valuable one ever discovered. No language can convey an adequate idea of the immediate and almost miraculous change which it occasions to the debilitated and shattered system. In fact, it stands unrivalled as a remedy for the permanent cure of the maladies above mentioned, and also—

DIABETES, IMPOTENCY,
LOSS OF MUSCULAR ENERGY,
PHYSICAL PROSTRATION,
INDIGESTION,
SEMINAL WEAKNESS,
GLEET, FLUOR ALBUS,

And in every disease any way connected with the disorder or decay of the PROCREATIVE FUNCTIONS. Persons about to marry, if conscious of any weakness, should take the

THE ATTENTION OF ALL PERSONS DOING BUSINESS in the City of Portland, which requires a City License is directed to Sec 2d of Ordinance No 170, which is as follows:

"That every person, firm, company or corporation, required by this Ordinance to obtain a License to engage in any trade, business or profession, for which a License is required by this Ordinance, shall pay to the City Treasurer such sum or sums as hereinafter provided.

Thereupon, with the receipt of the City Treasurer, which receipt shall set forth the kind of business for which License is desired, they shall apply to the City Auditor who shall issue a License to the parties applying in accordance with the receipt of the Treasurer."

In consequence of the refusal or neglect of many persons to apply to the Auditor for such License, after paying the money to the Treasurer, I am ordered by the Common Council to give notice that unless persons comply with the requirements of said Ordinance, they will be arrested and prosecuted whether they have paid the money or not.

HENRY L. HOYT,
Marshal of the City of Portland.

DR. PERRAULT CONTINUES TO TREAT PRIVATE AND CHRONIC COMPLAINTS, SCROFULA, NERVOUS DEBILITY, DISEASES OF THE BLOOD, SPERMATORRHEA, IMPOTENCE, STERILITY.

DR. PERRAULT is a Graduate of the University Queen's College, and is the ONLY REGULAR GRADUATE who practices as a SPECIALIST in San Francisco.

DR. PERRAULT will cure all who are afflicted with Nervous Debility, Loss of Memory and Vigor, etc., ... from injurious habits, contracted in youth, or ever maturity, which produce constitutional debility and premature decline.

It is a melancholy fact that thousands fall victims ... owing to unskillful treatment and improper ...

All cases of Gonorrhoea, Gleet, Strictures, ... the Bladder, Gravel, Spermatorrhoea, and Impotence can be cured in a few days, without prevention from business.

To the Ladies.

Ladies suffering from Whites, Falling of the Womb, Suppression of the Menses, or Profuse Flowing, Costiveness, Piles, Weakness of the Back, Pain in the side, Headache, Palpitation, and all other diseases to which the female system is subjected, will find prompt relief by addressing themselves to DR. PERRAULT, corner Sacramento and Montgomery streets. Private entrance on Sacramento street.

To those seeking our advice a plain statement of their case will be given, whether curable or not. All cases taken under treatment warranted. No charges for advice. No poisons or harsh medicines to injure the constitution; no making sick to make well; honest in our dealings; frank in our opinions; moderate in our charges. We invite investigation, claim not to know everything, nor to cure everybody, but do claim to reason and common sense, and to cure eight out of ten pronounced incurable.

We particularly request those who have tried this doctor, and that scientific Physician, boasted and advertised till worn out and discouraged, to call upon us. It will cost nothing, as consultations are free.

N. B.—Persons at a distance can be cured at home by addressing a letter to DR. PERRAULT, stating their case as minutely as possible, general habits of living, occupation, etc. Letters to be addressed, J. PERRAULT, M. D., corner Sacramento and Montgomery streets, Rooms 10 and 11, or Box 973, Post Office, San Francisco.

DR. PERRAULT still retains the agency of DR. RICORD'S FEMALE MONTHLY PILLS. Farm for Sale.

IN CLACKAMAS COUNTY, FOURTEEN MILES from Oregon City and 25 miles from Portland, containing 640 acres, 100 of which are fenced and in a good state of cultivation, and a good orchard of twenty acres of the best fruit in the country. The land is half prairie and half timber. There is on it a good two-story frame house, a barn and a distillery for making apple brandy nearly ready to run.

For convenience this place cannot be excelled in Oregon, being well situated, handy to mills and schools, and in a good neighborhood.

It will be sold at a price very much below its actual value. For particulars apply to ... Y. HENRY, ... Front street, opposite the Penitentiary.
